

Winning At Math Workshops!

For Expanding Mathematical Skills

Do you cringe when you have to go to math class? Are you afraid to ask questions in math class? Do you fear math tests more than any other kind? Is your math anxiety keeping you from taking a class you need, or affecting your performance in your current class?

If you answered yes to any of the questions above, then you need the Winning at Math: Math Anxiety workshop!

Math Anxiety Workshop

COPING WITH MATH ANXIETY:

Learn what math anxiety is and ways to manage it to find success in math!

Tuesday, November 7, 2006
(with cookies!)

5:00 – 6:30 p.m. in MUEN 126 (E wing)

Presented by Amy Subert

Sponsored by SASC and CU Mathematics Department

Questions, concerns, or feedback please email Amy Subert at amy.subert@colorado.edu. For other workshops please visit: www.colorado.edu/sasc/math/wedwork